ENG Van & Power Line

The mast on top of a KSBW live truck got tangled with a live power line on June 25. The crew inside was backing out of a parking spot, according to the Monterey County Herald.

There were no injuries to the reporter, Tom Miller, or the camera operator. The pair had just finished a report for the 6 P.M. newscast and forgot to lower the mast on the truck before driving away.

News director Laughton Dodd said the KSBW van is equipped with an alarm that sounds if the van goes into motion while the mast is up, but the alarm malfunctioned. Some area residents lost power and cable service temporarily, according to city officials.

In Memoriam: Jack Matranga

Jack Matranga (Silver Circle Class of 1986) was the former General Manager of KTXL 40. Jack began his career in 1945 with Armed Forces Radio in Tokyo, worked in Yreka as an announcer, then returned to Sacramento to start KGMS Radio. In 1968 Jack launched KTXL and in 1983 he and his partners started KDVR, Denver and KPDX Portland. He was involved in many charities. We just learned that Jack passed on January 11, 2012. Our thoughts are with his wife Ellie.
