RANDY FORSMAN

Chapter President & Trustee
Director, KCRA 3

Welcome to the 2021 Gold & Silver Circle Induction. Tonight, we recognize the accomplishments of nine individuals who, over decades of service, have left their mark on the television industry. Being inducted into the Silver Circle (25+ years) are Stephanie Adrouny of KNTV NBC Bay Area, Laura Anthony, Michael Finney, and Eric Thomas of KGO ABC 7, Stanton Tang of KOLO 8, Adrian Woodfork of KCRA 3, and Frank Zamacona of Zamacona Productions. Our two Gold Circle (50+ years) inductees are Joe Moore of KHON 2, and Barry Tompkins, various Sports Networks. Although tonight's celebration may be virtual, their contributions to the betterment of their work and their community are no less impactful. I had hoped 2021 would be the year we could return to an in-person induction luncheon, but at the risk of attendees being exposed to COVID-19, our Board of Governors made the difficult but responsible decision to return to a virtual format once again. In addition to the Class of 2021, we're also awarding college scholarships to five well-deserving and diverse students from across the Bay Area. Tonight's event is free, and we welcome donations to support our TV Academy Fund. We hope you will join us at 6:30 pm on Zoom to share in the celebration with friends and colleagues. Then at 7 pm you can relax and enjoy the presentations. On behalf of the Board of Governors for the San Francisco / Northern California Chapter of The National Academy of Television Arts & Sciences and myself, thank you for joining us for this momentous occasion.

WAYNE FREEDMAN

Retired Reporter, KGO ABC 7

Awards Chair / Trustee

Silver Circle Class of 2002

AWARDS CHAIR

Wayne Freedman spent more than 40 years working in San Francisco television news. He began with KRON in 1981, was based here with CBS News in 1988, and moved to ABC7 in 1991. He began his reporting career with a weekly column in what is now the Los Angeles Daily News in 1968, at 14 years-old. Wayne is a Governor's Award Recipient, a Silver Circle Member, a 54-time Emmy® Award recipient, a Trustee with the National Academy, a member of the National Awards Committee, a long-time governor for the Northern California Chapter, and our Awards Chair. Freedman is a 2nd generation television person. His father, Mike, began with ABC in 1948. There, he invented and pioneered the use of live, hand-held video cameras for news and sports. Mike received several national Emmy® Awards for camera work and directing. Wayne's book, It Takes More Than Good Looks to Succeed at Television News Reporting (2nd Edition), is required reading in college and university journalism programs across the nation. Freedman retired from ABC7 in September, 2021. He and his wife, Susan, live in Pinehurst, North Carolina.

MASTER OF CEREMONIES

I am a child of the television era from when it was in black and white to the cutting edges of today's digital world. I've been a long-time television and radio consumer and investigative journalist for more than 30 years. Over the years, reporting has given me many remarkable opportunities and memories. I have worked in 4 major market TV markets including Cleveland (WJW), San Francisco (KTVU & KGO) and Los Angeles (KCBS & KTTV). Television was and remains a passion. For 28 years, I ran the Great American Toy Test, a syndicated series of news reports and a half hour special. In those years, we tested tens of thousands of toys in cities all over America with our television partners. I've covered every major California earthquake; my first was one in Livermore in the early 1980's. The most recent, in Napa 2014, earned my sixth Emmy®. I was one of the lead reporters on the PG&E gas explosion and fire in 2010 in San Bruno and provided continuing coverage ever since as PG&E rebuilds its system. From 2016 to 2018, I covered every major woodland fire in much of California. In these decades I've been fortunate to have been awarded many honors, including 6 Emmy's®, 5 Golden Mikes, The Aviation & Space Writers Streibig Trophy, the American Bar Association's Silver Gavel Award, the Society of Professional Journalists Distinguished Public Service Award, an Ohio State Award and a couple dozen other national and major market awards including one from the U.S. Department of Transportation's National Highway Traffic Safety Administration as well as the Internal Revenue Service. I was honored to be elected to the Silver Circle of the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences. I haven't called in sick for work since 1981, because I don't want to miss anything. I love this job.

Congratulations

Recipients*

A special congratulations to our own News Director

STANTON TANG

News Director, KOLO 8, Reno, NV
Silver Circle Class of 2021

Stanton Tang brings a wealth of experience to KOLO-TV as news director. Under his leadership during COVID-19, Tang provided guidance to his station, focusing on serving all viewers and proactively tackling issues of equality surrounding the pandemic. Tang grew up in Phoenix, Arizona where he landed his first job in broadcasting as a producer at KPNX before even graduating from Arizona State University in 1988. After completing his degree, he was hired by Sacramento NBC Affiliate KCRA. There, Tang produced newscasts and the station's Asian American Public Affairs program entitled "Perceptions." After nine-years with KCRA, Tang moved into management at KLAS in Las Vegas. Then, it was on to Grand Rapids, Michigan at WZZM. There, he received an Emmy® Award for a News Special. With his guidance, the station also received an Edward R. Murrow Award for four consecutive years. In 2014, Tang moved to Reno as News Director at KOLO TV. He's committed to creating opportunities for excellence in reporting and diversifying his newsroom.

MOVING YOU FORWARD

STEPHANIE ADROUNY

Vice President News, KNTV NBC Bay Area
Silver Circle Class of 2021

From Santa Barbara to San Francisco – and from assignment editor to Vice President of News for NBC Bay Area, Stephanie Adrouny knows television. Now with KNTV, she is part of the NBC Universal Owned Television Stations Group and oversees the local news operation for the San Francisco Bay Area. While in college earning a degree in Political Science at UC Santa Barbara, Adrouny started her broadcasting career working for KCSB radio. She then broke into television, getting hired at ABC affiliate KEYT in Santa Barbara as an assignment editor. She moved to producer and then executive producer before returning home to the Bay Area in the late 90s. She went to KNTV when it was an ABC affiliate for the greater San Jose area. Then it was on to KGO ABC7, working through the ranks from 11PM producer to Assistant News Director. In 2014, Adrouny left KGO for an Assistant News Director job at KNTV. She's since been named Vice President of News. She has earned a national Edward R. Murrow Award in addition to several Emmy® Awards.

ADRIAN WOODFORK

Photographer/Reporter/Host / KCRA 3. Sacramento (Retired)

Silver Circle Class of 2021

A mentor, a rebel, a ground-breaking force, Adrian Woodfork diversified television in Sacramento during the early 1970s. Hired at Sacramento's KCRA, he opened the door as the first African American person to appear on the station's airwaves. After graduating from Sacramento State University, Woodfork took an entry level job at Channel 3, soon becoming a film editor, photographer and the first African American reporter at the station. During his 20 years at KCRA, Woodfork interviewed numerous celebrities and personalities for a public affairs program he created called "To Be Somebody." That show aired during prime time for two decades. Woodfork produced and hosted it, profiling stories about the African American experience. He traveled the world for KCRA, reporting from several places including Uganda and Jamaica. Woodfork left KCRA to become a freelancer then joined PBS KVIE working for America's Heartland. He also was an editor at CBS13 before landing a job as a TV Specialist at the California Department of Food and Ag. He recently retired but continues to independently produce videos for special causes. He's a community activist and lets the world know. Woodfork also is one of few African American professional Dog Show Judges in the country. He's a dog breeder and has contributed to several champion lines of Doberman Pinschers.

ERIC THOMAS

Anchor/Reporter, KGO ABC 7 (Retired)
Silver Circle Class of 2021

Nearly three decades working in one shop is a long time. But Eric Thomas did just that, sitting on the anchor desk and reporting at KGO ABC7 more than 26 years. A St. Louis native, he joined the station in 1994. Throughout the years, he moved from the field to the anchor desk – and then back into the field again. Whether on the anchor desk or reporting, he focused on keeping viewers informed and educated. Thomas has a big passion about airplanes and military history. That interest and expertise paired well with his job. He flew with the Blue Angels and traveled to the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea. His expertise was invaluable when explaining details about an Asiana Flight that slammed into the runway at San Francisco International Airport. Thomas retired in 2020 after covering thousands of stories – some about famous people – and many about people next door.

LAURA ANTHONY

Reporter, KGO ABC 7
Silver Circle Class of 2021

Laura Anthony has been pounding the pavement for ABC7News for more than two decades, covering some of the biggest local and national stories. That includes everything from the San Francisco Dog Mauling and Occupy Oakland, to the Warriors NBA Championship runs, National Conventions, Sandy Hook, Hurricane Harvey, Black Lives Matter protests, devastating wildfires in Napa and Paradise, and a worldwide pandemic. Prior to joining ABC7 in 2001, Anthony reported for KRON, KCRA and Salt Lake City's flagship station KSL. She also worked as a network affiliate correspondent covering the OJ Simpson, Tim McVeigh and Unabomber trials in California and beyond. Anthony is a multiple Emmy® nominee, and multiple winner for her coverage of a sniper standoff in San Francisco, the Milo riot at U.C. Berkeley and the catastrophic Camp Fire. Anthony has a B.A. in Political Science and Master's in Journalism, both from U.C. Berkeley.

MICHAEL FINNEY

Consumer Reporter, KGO ABC 7
Silver Circle Class of 2021

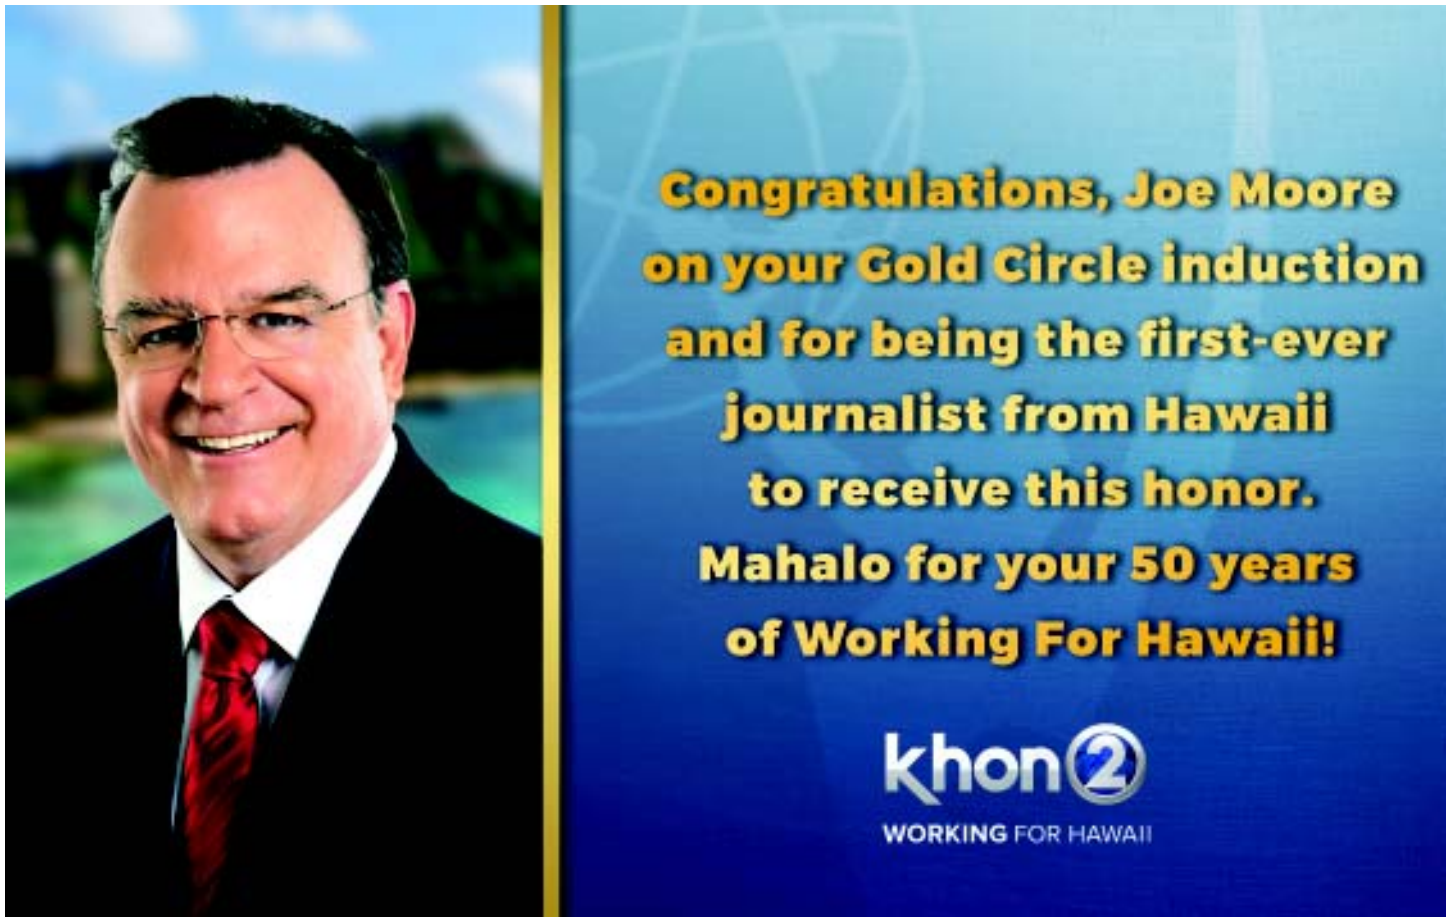

Michael Finney celebrates 30-years with ABC7 in 2021 – and even gets a day named after him by San Francisco’s Mayor and the State of California. April 29th was proclaimed Michael Finney Day as he was lauded for his decades of consumer reporting and advocacy. The proclamation declares Finney one of the most prominent consumer reporters in the U.S. Finney joined the station in 1991 and his reporting has received numerous prestigious awards. Not only did the California State Legislature acknowledge Finney but so did Congress in Washington D.C. Finney has published several books and credits his career to a journalism teacher in Junior High School in Palo Alto. His name is Bill Goggin. “He is responsible for all of this,” said Finney. “He taught me, ‘The job of the journalist is to comfort the afflicted and afflict the comfortable.’ That’s pretty much what I’ve been up to ever since.”

JOE MOORE

Anchor, KHON 2, Honolulu, Hawaii
Gold Circle Class of 2021

With more than 50-years working on television in Hawaii, Anchor Joe Moore is an experienced television veteran. In fact, he's almost an institution on the islands. Moore's career started after a two-year stint as an Army broadcast journalist. He was then hired as a sportscaster at KGMB in 1969. That was exactly 52-years ago. He moved to the news anchor desk at KHON2 in 1980, walking viewers through major historical events including the explosion of the space shuttle Challenger, Hurricanes Iwa and Iniki, the many eruptions of Kilauea Volcano and the attempted assassination of President Ronald Regan. Moore graduated from The Defense Information School in Indianapolis, and also attended University of Maryland. When not in the newsroom or holding down the anchor desk, Moore writes for theater and acts on stage in regional theatre productions. He loves watching plays, movies, and listening to music. When it came to getting into television news as a career, Moore said that it seemed an obvious choice given his background in broadcasting during the time he spent in Vietnam. Though he also has a passion for theater, he saw TV as more reliable. "It seemed a more dependable way to make a living and provide for a family than acting or writing," said Moore. Half a century later, sure seems that decision has paid off.

BARRY TOMPKINS

Sportscaster
Gold Circle Class of 2021

Seasoned sportscaster best describes Gold Circle inductee Barry Tompkins. Fifty-years in television, he's a four-time Emmy® Award recipient having started his career in 1968 at San Francisco station KPIX TV. From there, he's worked at NBC Network, HBO, ESPN, FOX Sports and currently does the ShoBox and Championship Boxing series for Showtime. Tompkins is a powerhouse, having done play-by-play commentary for the Super Bowl, Rose Bowl, NCAA Final Four, nearly ten Olympic Games, Tour de France, Wimbledon, San Francisco Giants baseball and more than two-hundred World Championship fights. And that's just a taste of the work he's done. His sports broadcasting experience is vast and varied. In addition to play-by-play, he's covered the Masters, U.S. Open, British Open and PGA golf events along with the Indy 500 and hockey Stanley Cup. If it's sports-related, there's a good chance Tompkins has covered it. Now, marry that extensive sports background with a little fun and you'll find that he also writes a humor column for the Marin Independent Journal and is a contributing columnist for Comcast Sports Net Bay Area. Add to all of that, Tompkins is a mentor and teaches Storytelling for Television at Dominican University in San Rafael, CA. The message here could be – you get back ten-fold what you give.
